FIND YOUR TRIO

FREE PRINTABLE PARTY GAME FOR 8-32 PLAYERS

Find your trio takes 30-45 minutes to play and is a fun party game to get a group mingling and everyone talking.

SETTING UP THE GAME

- Print out the game and cut up the cards (for small groups, you won't need to print every page).
- Every player needs one card and must be part of a group.
- Groups should be obvious (e.g. Rock, Paper, Scissors).
- If you have a multiple of three (9,12,15,18,21 or 24 players) ignore the groups of four and choose whichever groups of three you think will be most fun.
- For non-multiples of three, include one or two of the groups of four.
- There are also some blank cards at the end if you'd like to add your own trios (or feel D'Artagnan really needs including as the fourth musketeer).

CAN YOU PLAY?

- Absolutely! Even though you'll know your trio, it's still fun to figure out who they are.

INTRODUCING THE GAME

- Print out two copies of the rules and put them somewhere obvious.
- Read out the rules first, then
- Randomly deal players one card each.
- Say "Find Your Trio!"
- Step back and watch the ~~chaos~~ fun.

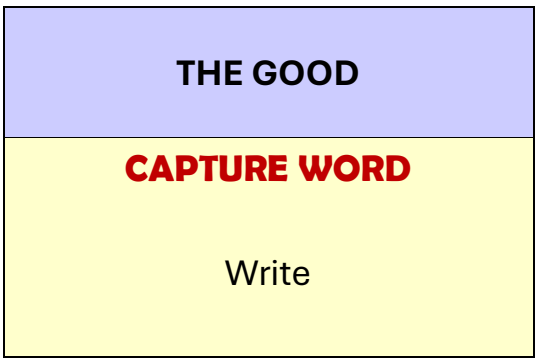
FIND YOUR TRIO

RULES FOR 8-32 PLAYERS

WINNING

- You win by finding the other two (or occasional three) members of your trio.
- The game ends when everyone's found their trio.
- Some cards have the group on them, for others, you have to figure it out. For instance, if you have "The Good", you'd be looking for "The Bad and "The Ugly:



QUESTIONS

- Ask each other one or two questions about who a player is, then move on.
- Every question must have a Yes / No answer.
- NEVER repeat a question in the whole game.
- You can return to the same person later as often as you like.

CAPTURING

- If you hear a player asking a question with your Capture Word in it, you capture them.
- Synonyms aren't allowed but parts of words are (So "Write" means you can capture anyone saying "Write", "Writer" or "Writing" but not "Author").
- Captured players become your servant.

AS A SERVANT...

- Answer every question as if you're the master, starting with "My master is..."
- You can only ask questions on behalf of your master, to help them find another member of their trio.
- Servants you own or capture now serve your master.
- You can be captured by a new master and change hands.
- You earn your freedom when your master finds another member of their trio.
